

Sample

© CPO.org.uk C5149MFD

You've finished your tree, every bauble and decoration is in place, and all that's left is to have the big switch-on.

It's an exciting moment – when you're praying everything still works – and the lights do their job, bringing everything to life.

The Christmas story is full of these explosions of light: the star signposting the birthplace, angels announcing the event in a riot of fanfares, the sparkle of gold among the wise men's gifts.

We'd love you to join us this year to celebrate the birth of Jesus – “love's pure light” as the writer of popular carol Silent Night puts it. Come along and find out why ...

sample